A GUNNER in the R. A. named Arthur Patworth was up before Mr. Wise to-day on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and with having assaulted the police. Arthur admitted having gazed on the gin until it had an unreal sort of hue, but remembered nothing more and trusted to the tender mercles of his Worship. He will haul upon the ropes three weeks hence.

MR. F. Joseph, formerly an employee in the firm of Riley, Hargreaves and Company of Singapore, was found drowned near the Tanirng Pagar Wharf at 5 p.m. on the 11th inst. It appears that prior to his death he had been in a very depressed state of mind. His body was at once conveyed to the mortuary where an inquest was to have been held. The deceased left a widow and four children.

THERE was a big row on board the steamer Talung, on a recent trip up the Yangisze between Wuhu and Tatung. A gang of rowds soldlers, on plunder bent, started the racket, and Mr. Jago, chief officer, and the Chinese pilot were badly knocked about in the melle. The head roffian was laid by the heels, but on the vessel's arrival at Tatung, Capt. Martin considered it advisable to release him.

A SHANGHAI correspondent says that the Hongkong golf players will have a hard nut to crack in the inter-port match, arranged to take place this week. And he may be rightbut we doubt it. The straw in question is generally, known as "the Minister of Foreign Affilies," that being his title in English; which is used by foreigners in place of his own somewhat unpronounceable native name. He inhabits a lobby in the hong of the China Merchants' S. N. The Rev. H. C. Hodges conducted the funeral service. The coffin was covered with wreaths and crosses of flowers, one of them a graceful tribute from the Hongkong Cricket team, and it was borne to the grave by Messrs. DOUGLAS STEAM-SHIP COMPANY,

LIMITED. The following is the report for presentation to he shareholders at the eighth ordinary general-meeting, to be held at the offices of the company, on Saturday, the 26th day of September, 1891, at 11.30 a.m. The General Managers have now to submit to the shareholders their Report on the eighth year's working of the Company, ended 30th June, 1801. After paying all running expenses, premia of Insurance, Remuneration to Consulting! Committee, and Auditors' fees, there remains net profit of $104,339.53, and in accordance, with the Articl-s of Association, it is proposed, with the consent of shareholders, to appropriate this amount as follows :--To place the sum of $10,000 to a Suspense account, against the loss sustained by the failure of Messrs. Russell & Co., hereinafter referred to; to carry the amount of $40,731.00 to credit of "Reserve and Depreciation Fund," being per cent on values of the Company's Properties on 30th June last, and to pay a Dividend of per cent on the capital of the Company, equal to a further $50 000 00, leaving a balance of

$3,607 63 to be carried forward to next account. Considering the depressed condition of trade on the East Coast during the entire period under review, the above result may be called fairly satis factory, though the return to shareholders is not quite upon the scale we should wish to maintain, We are glad to think that the Company keeps its position in the esteem of shippers both here and at the Coast Ports, and with a revival of trade a corresponding improvement in the earnings may be confidently looked for. It will be observed from the Accounts that the failure of Messrs. Russell & Co., the Amoy Agents of the Company, has proved a very serious blow, as no less than $1940.00 stood at that time to their debit. A cl im against the now actively at work, some three hundred men estate has of course been lodged, and for the present, until it is seen how matters are likely to eventuate, it is proposed to set aside a sum of $10,000 to a Suspense account as above stateday, recently by a boat-builder on the opposite side

Attention is called to the altered form in of the river. He bought an old iron Chinese which the amount formerly styled." Reserve " gun-boat for a couple of thousand dollars, broke appears in the present accounts, which alteration is in accordance with the charges in the Articles of Association made in March last. It is proposed for the present to keep a fixed Reserva of $200,000, the balance of the Fund, $107,853,41, having been written off values of steamers, to which purpose all further amounts set aside will be devoted.

The Company's fleet is most favorably reported upon by the local surveyors, the present condition of each and every one of the steamers being lighly satisfactory. The accounts show that the steamship Thales has undergone her

WUCHANG.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

11th September, 1891, The uncasiness and sense of something being in the air continues. The signs are all significant of the natives of the place knowing nothing and therefore guessing The dates selected-the evening after the entry of the Governor into th Examination Hall, and now that has passed, the agih or 16th of the moon, when the graduates will return from examination-suggest that nothing definite is known. Certain it is that many wandered about on the first mentioned night expecting to see a blaze, and report has it that many graduates delayed entering the hall till the last moment for the sake of the promised excitement. Meanwhile we have every reason to be grateful to our foreign authorities for the promptitude and thoroughness of their precautions. Everything is indefinite, so while ladies and children are removed to the foreign concession, the men are remaining at their work. while plans are well worked out for assistance or rescue in case of any disturbance. The city gates, which shut us in immediately after dusk, suggest unpleasant possibilities. The native authorities are much on the alert, but without that full confidence in themselves and their forces which we should like. The Nich Tal (Provincial Judge) and Shieh Tai (Colonel in command) have called fall the missionaries to inspect the picquets of soldiers. Happy are those who are guarded by natives; a Hunan guard at a time like this is a doubtful security. Notwithstanding the feeling that all this may be a mere alarm, the absolute necessity of being on the alert, and the feeling that "something is coming " is far more trying than having it over and being done with it. Certainly Hunan tall talk about the streets does not add to the general tranquillity. The threats as to what will be the result should Hunan be humbled are emphatic. succinct, and comprehensive. But there is a long gap between braggadocio born of long military reputation and putting into effect threats of war and sedition.

Seplember rath. Yesterday a stern proclamation was issued by the Viceroy and the Governor announcing that in accordance with the directions of the Imperial Edict of the seventh day of the fifth moon, they will instantly put to death any one found inciting to violence by placard or otherwise, and offering a reward of a hundred taels to any one whose information shall lead to the arrest of such offenders. This invocation of the magic of the Imperial name and the offer of a reward so larger than an individual share of any possible loot, ought to do a good deal towards the maintenance of order. The rumours were becoming unpleasantly pointed and personal, and the secret warnings were coming to hand from friends to native Christians that the soldlery were likely to join in any outbreak, and generally the feeling of insecurity was trying. This proclamation rather restores the balance's and though dates, the 17th and 20th of September, are freely mentioned, we may hope that all will wass off quietly. It is needless to say that the suspense, the expecting something that may come but doesn't, is more trying to most of us then would be an actual riot. Of course in a provincial capital the treachery of the soldiery / is the only thing to be feared, Natives who remember two separate occasions within the last ten years when the soldiers revolted and worsted the Viceroy, look gloomy as - they discuss the possibility. But with a good strong Viceroy-though we should be glad to see more signs of perfect self-confidence in him at this crisis-three European gunboats at Hankow, determined commanders, and a British Consul who has left nothing undone to protect those entrusted to him, we ought surely to be and I think shall be safe in the capital of Central China. Should any riot occur the disgrace to rChina will not easily be wiped out.-N. C. Daily

Daily News, considerable excitement was caused on the Bund by the seizure of the China Merchanta' Co.'s premises by order of Messrs. . M. Forbes and H. S. Wilkinson. These gentlemen are at present the owners of the property, for which the late firm of Russell & Co., were agents; though we are informed that Mr Wilkinson was not acting for the trustees of Russell and Co. estate for creditors, but as a trustee for the Howqua family of Canton. It is understood that the China Merchants Co., having been beavy losers by the bank suptcy of Russell & Co., and believing that the offices and godowns belong to that firm, considered they could obtain a set-off by declining to pay sent. In spite of notices from the owners the Chins Merchants' persisted in this course till the rent due amounted to as much as Tis. 2,000 In consequence of this Mr. Wilkinson ordered Mr. I. Bollard to take possession. This he did yesterday morning, with the assistance of some foreigners hired for the occasion. Mr. Chun Fai-ting, assistant Manager of the C. M. S. N Co., applied to the Police to expel the men in charge, but as this request could not be complied with, he assembled a number of coolies, clerks, etc., and after tearing down a notice posted on the doors by the " man in possession." re-entered the building and occupied without resistance. Mr. Mowat, H.B.M. Acting Consul-General, and the Chairman of the Council, with Captain McEuen and Police were on the scene, while a body of sailors from H. M.S. Caroline were drawn up on the Foochow Road pontoon ready to preserve order if necessary. The whole affair lasted about half an hour : then the crowd dispersed and things assumed their normal condition. Subsequently the China Merchants' Co. agreed to hand over the amount in dispute, so that the incident may be considered closed. Of course, all kinds of stories got abroad. " One was that the C.M.S.N. Co. was bankrupt, and another that the Customs had seized the Company's premises owing to the recent smuggling-of-arms case. We should hope the China Merchantal Co. will have to explain by what right they marched 100 or 200 coolies down the bund from Kin-Ice-yuen, a high-handed act that might easily have caused a riot.

The Shanghai Mercury reports that-"Being unable to get into the office, Mr. Chun Fai-ting went to Captain McEuen and told him that if the door was not opened he would bring 500 coolies and break in. Captain McEuen told him he could not move in the matter except there was a breach of the peace in the street, and warned him that if any breach of the peace took place, he (Mr. Chun) would be responsible. Mr. Chun said the China Merchants' would be responsible and that he intended to get into his office. He then walked down to the Bund, where hundreds of the Kin-lee-yuen coolles were beginning to assemble, and at 8 o'clock, the office' not being opened, and Mr. Bollard baving shown Mr. Chun written instructions to keep it closed, Mr. Chun led his men into the Telegraph Companies' compound, and forced the back entrance of the China Merchants, hustling away the eight foreigners who had been placed as a guard over the door, They then came round to the front and got in there also, Mr. Chun marching triumphantly into his office and taking his seat at his desk. A strong force of Police were present under Captain McEuen, but an no unnecessary disturbance was made, they did no interiere. Mr. Mowat and Mr. Wilkinson arrived just after the premises had been stormed, and shortly after two boat-loads of blue-jackets in fighting trim from the Caroline, landed on the Foochow Road pontoon, but returned to their vessel almost immediately, the coolies dispersing directly the sailors were seen coming. The whol affair was over in half-an-hour, but while ! lasted great excitement reigned in the locality, and a row was momentarily expected.

"The China Merchants' staff remained ! peaceable possession of the premises all day though trouble of some kind was hourly expected, and the Taotal, by an usurpation of authority over the Foreign Settlements which we will comment upon hereafter, sent down a guard of soldiers to defend the offices. He has, however we understand, made an offer to hand over the rent to Mr. Wilkinson, and at all events we may be sure that our Crown Advocate is not the man to let the matter rest as it stands at present," Mr. Chas. Dowdall gives the following explanation :- "Now that there is so much talk about riots, the China Merchants' Co. desire that, is order to avoid any misapprehension. should lay before the public the circumstances of the disturbance on their premises this morning. "The Company some days ago received an intimation from Mr. H. S. Wilkinson stating that the premises in question,-which are held under lease from Russell and Co., bad been assigned successively to John Murray Forbes and to himself, demanding rent, and giving notice that unless it was paid by 4 p.m. yesterday, steps would be taken to enforce the lessors'

As there are various other claimants to the premises besides Mr. Wilkinson, the China Merchants' Co, on the 15th inst. sent the rent with an official despatch to the Taotal, and Mr. Wilkinson was informed of this, but he replied that he adhered to the notice given by him.

At half-past six this morning (September 18th) about 20 foreign men entered the Company's premises and turned out all the Company' coolies who were cleaning up the offices, leaving, employes on the apper floor,

The foreigners then posted a notice on the door which read as follows ;---

"The undersigned has this day taken possession of these premises on behalf of John Murray Forbes and Hiram Shaw Wilkinson. "Shanghal, September, 18th, 1891.

MR. MASON EXPLAINS.

Under date the 17th September Mr. Mason wiltes to the N. C. Daily News :-

Sir,-The following particulars may interest your renders. They are extracted from a memorandum that I am making for my amusement of certain experiences and information met wit by me since I began to investigate the Secret Society question.

MY MOTIVES. I' had no intention of conspiring against th Chinese Government or of taking service with Chinese I met, with a view to newspaper letters. Finally I thought I could with a certain amount of risk, get sufficiently into their councils to obtain information which might be of serious value to foreigners. This, I maintain, was my sole object in every subterfuge and criminal act in which I may appear-such information could not be obtained in a less desperate and risky manner. Although I do not propose to take much trouble to prove this in mere self-defence if prosecuted (in the same way as I emphatically refuse to mention identify any individuals that I may have been told in gosslp have some connection with the movement), yet to free myself from imputation of disloyalty to my Service, I point out that genuine conspirator of the meanest capacity would have taken more precautions to conceal himself. Thinking superficially, I suppose my action would have been to at least abstain from voluntarily giving accounts of my actions which enable any one to prosecute me for half-a-dozen misdemeanours; to have gone to Hongkong under an assumed name and in disguise which I had every opportunity to assume; to have put out all my ingenuity to buy and ship arms unknown, which has been done by many others of no greater ability than myself; and to run away or commit suicide when I found that the 'gaff was blown' or 'the game was up '-expressions used to me by staid and responsible people within the last few days. I suppose that when I found myself a free agent at Shanghai yesterday, there was no warrant out to prevent me leaving the country (for which I had the means) or of " making a hole in the Whangpoo." From the moment after serious reflection, decided to investigate the matter. I likewise resolved if placed in an equivocal position before I had proved my intentions, to take philosophically any con sequences there might be as a nunishment for an error of judgment, in which I am probably far-fetched as it may sound to those who don't know me, disposed to be more severe to myself than others would be. Nothing but the knowledge to himself that he had but a very passing interest in the things or their use could have made any one so extremely careless as I was in observing secrecy with regard to the smuggling of arms from Hongkong; a carelessness which could not fail to suggest to the mercenary or unreliable among the men with whom I have come in contact in the business, how easy it would be to betray and make capital out of me. On none have ever enjoined the necessity of loyalty to me and yet I have found in many unexpected quarters, acquaintances of an hour and common Chinese coolies with whom I have hardly spoken, willing to suffer punishment rather than give information which they think might damage me. If then I had been working con amore on behalf of the conspirators, I maintain I could have done it, and a rebellion could at this moment be in full swing which nothing but foreign intervention would have crushed. Why did I not? Because I realised that their scheme would break over unforescen rocks, because mine is not a character to hold a commanding position in such dangerous ilmes, where a man must be physically strong, reckless, prompt in action, and practised in arms and men; because I knew hey would cast a foreigner aside as a drained | throughout the city. Although not by action, yet by my inacwhich I am ashamed to own can be called no less than deceit, the movement on which the whole rebellion turned has failed. Further away from the centres where the influence of foreigners and foreign trade have impressed such ideas on the 'reformers,' lay the true source of danger to China's advance; and ---- said that many old merchants looked on if as such a stumbling-block as to render it hopeless to inaugurate a new cra on their part. It was the military party who were determined to upset the present dynasty in order to place their own pretender on the throne. He said that these the Secret Society. I made enquiries of all men had not given a thought to what great line of policy should mark the new dynasty. They desired a rebellion, nothing more; they consisted of all the young bloods to whom commotion meant gain or excitement; and so many, especially among the lower soldiery and people, had now been imbued with the feeling that it would be hard to see how such a spirit can be long restrained. This, the more active and powerful body, likewise had chiefs who knew very well what they were 'doing, and who knew very well what rewards they proposed for themselves. It was these men who excited a false patriotism among the people against allens, fearing that they should turn their thoughts to their real interests, a change of the whole system of government, and recognice that it was not among such men that they could find patriotic leaders, ... At the same time they feel too weak to attempt a rebellion by theserebels, and can only keep alive their spirit and make an opening for themselves by embroiling the Chinese Government on the Mission question. The other party, on the other hand, feel very strong in the sympathies of the whole nation, but lack the nerve and backbone possessed by the more

All this, although --- was confident that everything was now ripe to give the 'reform' party the opening required, convinced me that a beginning of reform? meant a beginning of internecine anarchy; and I considered, despite the dislike to decelt in dealing with such wellmeaning conspirators, that I should be doing a useful thing, as well as interesting to myself, in placing foreigners in possession of this state of things by entering into the conspiracy myself.

August 31st, 1891. The rumours over the death of the Governor have largely subsided in the city, but are now extending throughout the province. The reason of the improvement in the city is traced to the prompt action taken by the officials. The Prefect and Magistrate issued a proclamation asserting that the foreign physician reached here only the last day of the Governor's life, and gave no medicine whatever. Furthermore it had nothing to do with the church, Tand idle rumours should not be set affoat to deceive the people and to stir up trouble. . The Governor had already issued a proclamation mentioning how persons in the south had lost their heads by making trouble, and now, out of love for the Governor, they were doing just what he had forbidden.

The Acting-Governor, Fu Jun, also re-issued under his own seal the proclamation of the departed Governor, and copies of the different that when the time came to give me the reward | proclamations were posted at the cathedral and promised, the national deceit would come out and mission chapels, and at all important places

While the opposition has thus been checked, it has not altogether disappeared. Anonymous placards are still posted up on the sly, but the police pull them down as soon as seen. One of the worst placards was posted up in front of the Governor's yamen, claiming that Li Hung-chang had tried to stir up an insurrection, but that the Governor had not joined with him. Thereupon the Viceroy sought to poison the Governor when at Chefoo, and falling then, he had sent a the people and students should, therefore, rise up and gain recompense by killing the whole lot of foreigners and destroying their property.

The Treasurer, Fu Jun, is Acting-Governor; the Salt Commissioner, Wang Tso-fou, is Acting-Treasurer; and a Taotai, who was formerly Prefect in this city, Mie Ch'l-hall, is Acting Salt-Commissioner.

There have been several rumours of different persons Esppointed to be Governor, but it is evident no one wants the place. The present Acting-Governor is especially anxious to resume his former office as Provincial Treasurer, which is a far more paying position. The undesirability of the position of Governor of Shantung is not only due to the fact that the Yellow River is found in our midst, but to the unusually, high reputation and popularity of the late Governor. He certainly has shown great skill in gaining the favour of the people and scholars. He has seen poor scholars when they called, as well as (3) Coast Trade duties would be abolished, rich gentry and officials. He has especially made use of money. and marks of honorary rank. On his return to China, he was taken by the German Minister and introduced to the Tsung-Il Yamen. From that body he received authority and a letter to deal directly with the Governor in the settlement of his affairs. He was also honoured and helped by Vicercy Li. Coming with these letters in his possession, the Governor felt it expedient to see him, even though too feeble to discuss any of the questions. How different this reception and success from that of an American missionary who returned from Peking some four years ago supposing thaton the action and recommendation of the Minister he was to have an interview with the Governor, but instead met only with rebuffs, failing to secure an interview even with the Taotai, till new orders were issued! It is evident success or failure depends on the preliminary action. The German Bishop has left for his main centre of work, intending to return when there is a Governor able to act.

The Examiner at the examination this year is Wang Ming-luan, who was the Provincial Chancellor of this Province a few years ago. No floods from the Yellow River have occurred. We believe the cause is the lack of rain in Shansi. One province is thereby blessed, and the other may be in danger of a famine. The rains have been heavy in this province. and several other places, especially the district of Pohsing, are covered with the rain-floods,-

CONSUMPTION, Wasting Diseases, and General Debility. Doctors disagree as to the relative value of Cod Liver Oil and Hypo-phosphites; the one supplying strength and flesh—the other giving nerve power and acting as a tonic to the digestion and entire system. But in Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, the two are combined, and the effect is wonderful. Thousands who have derived no permanent benefit from other preparations have been cured by this. "Scott's Emulsion" is perfectly palatable, and is easily digested even by those who cannot tolerate plain Cod Liver Oil. Any Chemist can supply it.—A. S. Watson & Co.
